Survey of Canadian Railway Operations Suggested Ending of Profitless Competition Between Railways Is Urged

Canadian Chamber of Commerce, in Convention at Regina, Asked to Pass Resolution Calling on Federal Government to Move Toward Elimination of Unnecessary Duplication; Commission to Study Whole Field Is Suggested

Regina, Sept. 9.—The federal government will be urged to take appropriate action to eliminate "all unnecessary duplication and unreasonable competition" in the operation of railways in Canada, if a resolution presented at the annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce here is passed.

It is suggested that if necessary, an independent commission be appointed to "study the railway problem in all its major aspects, and to make definite recommendations in connection with, first, the investment in Canadian railways in relation to the service required and the policy that should be adopted regarding extensions of lines or service, and second, the question of eliminating as far as possible all unnecessary duplication and unreasonable competition between the C.N.R. and the C.P.R."

The resolution drew a good deal of discussion to-day, and finally was referred back to the resolutions committee to be redrafted, and will again be presented to-morrow.

A number of other resolutions dealing with the Peace River railway outlet, unemployment insurance, stabilization, motor truck transportation, freight rate and transportation structure and internal trade statistics, were considered and referred to the incoming national executive for further study.

Assistance from the chamber was requested in one resolution in an effort to have removed what was termed a "discrimination" in cable rates to the Orient. The resolution pointed out that the cable rates to the Orient were higher than those to the United States and Canada, and that this was a disadvantage to the Orient.

The co-operation of Premier Bennett and Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, will be solicited.

TO AID FARMERS

In introducing the resolution calling for the establishment of a Canadian institute of agriculture, the function of which would be continuous study of agricultural problems and marketing possibilities, John M. Imrie, Edmonton, said it was the earnest desire of business interests of Canada to learn more of the actual conditions and problems of Canadian agriculture and do everything within their power to assist in its sound and permanent rehabilitation. It was with this thought alone, he said, that had prompted the drafting of the resolution.

All resolutions discussed will be presented to the general convention.

MACDONALD'S MAJORITY UP TO NINETY-FOUR

New British Cabinet's Lead in Commons Grows; Labor M.P.'s at Convention

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Sept. 9.—The National Government this afternoon scored two more victories in the House of Commons.

In two divisions the government's majority jumped to ninety-four votes and ninety-three votes, compared with the majority of fifty-five votes secured in yesterday evening's division on the confidence motion.

The increase in the majority was due to the fact that many of the opposition members—now among the opposition—were attending the meeting of the Trades Union Congress at Bristol.

The government received votes of 306

WHEN LEADERS GAVE BRITAIN NEW MINISTRY

The pictures above, received in Victoria to-day, give glimpses of Premier MacDonald, right, and Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin during the momentous hours just before the formation of the National Government in Great Britain. The cameraman snapped Mr. MacDonald as he was leaving No. 10 Downing Street for Buckingham Palace to hand in the resignation of the Labor Ministry. The Conservative leader was photographed, a short time later, while he was on his way to the palace to answer the invitation to join the coalition ministry.

State Hospitals Must Come In Time Says Hon. S. L. Howe

Provincial Secretary Tells Delegates to Fourteenth Annual Convention of B.C. Hospitals' Association That Health of People Will Ultimately Become a State Obligation; Mayor Extends Welcome of City

Hospitals maintained by the state was visualized by Hon. S. L. Howe, Provincial Secretary, at the opening to-day of the fourteenth annual convention of the British Columbia Hospitals' Association at the Empress Hotel.

"I am of the opinion that the time will come when the health of the people will be a state obligation," said Mr. Howe. The statement received the warm approval of the assembled delegates.

The Provincial Secretary said the greatest problem which the hospitals faced to-day was that of finance.

"In 1902, when the Hospitals Act was passed, there were twenty-five hospitals in the province," continued Mr. Howe. "Now there are eighty general hospitals and fifty private hospitals. Then the government contributed $45,000 to the upkeep of hospitals, whereas this year government aid to the hospitals will be in the neighborhood of $1,000,000."

Harking back to the hospital convention held in Nanaimo two years ago, Mr. Howe said it was most encouraging to note the increasing interest taken in the hospitals which were working so splendidly in the interests of humanity.

Wonderful strides had been made since the B.C. Hospitals' Association was formed. They had kept pace with the improvements that had taken place and it was manifestly clear there was a better feeling and understanding, which would undoubtedly be of pronounced benefit to the splendid work that is being carried on.

The speaker said there was room for improvement in hospital management. He referred to the work of the Hospital Survey and the recommendations of the commission which had been acted upon by the government.

WOOD DENIES STATEMENT HE TRICKED DON

Veteran U.S. Motorboat Driver Declares Reports on Monday's Start False

Had No Intention of Disqualifying Two Boats; Wood Breaks Down To-day

Detroit, Sept. 9.—Gar Wood, pilot of Miss America IX in the Harmworth Trophy races, to-day contradicted statements attributed to him Monday to the effect that he had deliberately drawn Kaye Don, British challenger in Miss England II, over the starting line, causing disqualification of both boats.

Wood said the only thing he had in mind was to "beat Don over the line. We felt if we got away first, we'd have a chance to keep the lead."

Wood said when they saw Don make a start for the line, they sped up the boat and passed him before the line was reached.

"It was this earnest desire on Don's part to get the lead and our determination that he would not get the jump that caused this unfortunate mix-up," Wood said.

WOOD BREAKS DOWN

Wood wept as he discussed the statements attributed to him after the race on Monday, to the effect he had tricked Don into beating the gun.

"I've been racing for years," he said, "and we've done the best we could to carry the American flag on our boats in a sportsmanlike way. I don't know how this misunderstanding can be rectified."

Wood broke down as he terminated the discussion, and said he could not talk about it any more.

All Detroit newspapers Monday evening carried stories which described Wood as deliberately drawing Don over the starting line to disqualify him, while Wood's second boat, Miss America VIII, held back and made a legitimate start.

The newspaper further quoted Wood as saying he had planned the start in advance, and that "everything went off just as I planned."

CHICAGO BANK TO RECOVER BIG DEFALCATIONS

Chicago, Sept. 9.—The defalcations of Walter E. Wolf, former $75 a week manager of the coupon collection department of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Company, have been fixed at $3,665,929.

This was announced by Arthur M. Reynolds, chairman of the bank's board of directors, who said the entire amount probably would be recovered, partly from $2,000,000 of insurance. The balance of loss over the $2,000,000 insurance was charged out of a special reserve fund.

Wolf confessed he had taken bonds and used them as margin in stock market transactions, removing the bank's records to avoid detection.

Ocean Aviators Overdue On Their Non-stop Flight From Japan To Seattle

FEARS FOR JAPAN-SEATTLE FLIERS

Thomas Ash, who arrived in Victoria this morning as a wiper in the engineering room on the American Mail liner President Madison from the Orient and looked serious when informed that no word had been received from Moyle and Allen, who left Japan Monday for Seattle in the same plane which he deemed unsafe to take off in.

Thomas Ash Who Made Attempt At Pacific Flight Sounds Alarm

Arrived in Victoria This Morning as Wiper on Ss. President Madison and Displayed Concern for Moyle and Allen; Tells of Future Plans and Plans of Other Aviators; Met Lindbergh in Japan

"Up to noon to-day I would say there was no cause for alarm for Moyle and Allen. After that time, however, unless some word is heard from them along the route, things would be more serious. The plane could only carry enough fuel for forty-eight hours' flying. I hope they get through," said Thomas Ash, one time contender for Pacific flight honors, this morning in speaking of the hop-off from Japan for Seattle Monday of Don Moyle and C. A. Allen.

FIVE TO ATTEND UNION SESSION

Victoria delegates to Municipalities' Meeting Leave on Sunday

Municipal Unemployment Matters Expected to Be Debate Feature

Victoria delegates to the annual meeting of the Union of B.C. Municipalities in New Westminster will leave Sunday for the mainland city. They will attend the session of the Good Roads League on Monday, which will be followed by a three-day session of the union ending on Thursday.

The civic party is composed of Aldermen John Worthington, Alex. Feden, Robert Smith, James Adam and H. O. Litchfield.

Although Victoria has no official resolutions to submit to the union this year the local delegates will be greatly interested in the proceedings, since it is expected unemployment will be one of the leading topics of discussion. The question of gasoline pumps on public streets is also on the agenda and will be watched by Victoria aldermen.

Prince Svasti Completes Tour of the United States; Here To-day

King Enjoys Fishing at Campbell River; Reaches City To-morrow

To join the King of Siam, who is expected to-morrow from Up-island, Prince Svasti, the uncle of the King and father of the Queen, arrived here to-day from Seattle.

Prince Svasti is accompanied by his family. They will all rejoin the royal party, sailing from here on Saturday aboard the Empress of Canada for their homeland. They have been touring the North American continent for several months.

SEEKING TIE BUTTON

If the big fish of Campbell River do not prevent it, the King of Siam will arrive to-morrow. His Majesty stated the thrill of angling for big ones on Sunday and was so pleased, he went back for more yesterday and to-day. He hooked one yesterday and was out again early this morning scouting for one of the fifty pounds, which would bring him a reward in the Tye Club.

The royal party as a whole has been successful on the fishing grounds. A garden party for the royal party will be given at Butchart's Gardens to-morrow.

CROWD WAITS

At 5:30 a.m. the ragged line of automobiles parked nearby stretched farther and farther away from the administration buildings where groups milled around. The crowd was constantly increasing as the light became stronger.

Seattle, Sept. 9.—A plane reported seen over Port Townsend near the head of Puget Sound to-day was a ship carrying news photos. It was learned on its arrival here. It was first believed to be the Moyle-Allen plane, which left Tokio Monday on a non-stop flight to Seattle.

FIANCEE AT AIRPORT

Seattle, Sept. 9.—Miss Frances Bresson, fiancée of the trans-Pacific flier, Don Moyle, landed here to-day in a small despatching group at the airport still watching for the arrival of Moyle and his companion, C. Allen, but no longer expecting them to complete their attempted flight from Japan.

"They'll get here yet," said Miss Bresson, undaunted by her disappointment, after expecting to find them already here. Her special plane, a small despatching group at the airport, brought to rest by her pilot at 10:50 a.m. They took off from Corning, Cal., at daybreak.

PLANE HEARD OVER LUMMI ISLAND TO-DAY

Bellingham, Wash., Sept. 9.—R. C. Graham, manager of the Graham Airport here, said he had been notified by Frank Wright Jr., in a telephone message from the Carlsbad cannery on Lummi Island that he heard a southbound airplane at 11:30 a.m. to-day, apparently near Cypress Island. He had been unable to locate it exactly because of fog and clouds, but he said it had a powerful motor which sounded different from that of other planes that had flown over this district.

EARTHQUAKE UNDER PACIFIC OFF OREGON RECORDED TO-DAY

Pasadena, Cal., Sept. 9.—A heavy earthquake occurred under the sea off the coast of Oregon to-day and possibly may have been felt at points on the coast, officials of the Seismological Laboratory of the Carnegie Institution here said to-day.

They were able definitely to give the earthquake's location after receiving reports from other seismological observatories. The first tremors were recorded at 5:42:33 a.m. and the second series of waves at 5:44:59.

Seattle, Sept. 9.—Under a clouded sky, Seattle watched to-day for Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, California fliers who left Japan two days ago on a non-stop flight from Samushiro Beach to this city.

The aviators had not been reported since they were sighted seventy minutes after leaving the beach, but in view of the isolated territory over which they would fly and the slowness of communication from those parts, the lack of news was not surprising.

CROWD AT FIELD

Scores of cars and hundreds of people crowded Boeing Field, where the fliers were scheduled to land. They had hoped to reach Seattle by noon to-day. At 12:30 p.m., P.S.T., they had been in the air forty-eight hours.

"Because of a tail wind, aviators here were hopeful their gasoline supply would last longer than the allotted forty-seven hours."

NO REPORT IN ALEUTIANS

Seattle, Sept. 9.—The naval radio station at Bremerton reported at 5:30 a.m., P.S.T., to-day that a check of stations in the Aleutian Islands and along the southeastern coast of Alaska had failed to pierce the silence which enveloped Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, United States airmen, seventy minutes after they had taken off from Samushiro Beach, northern Japan, Monday.

When last seen the airmen were approximately 110 miles from their starting point.

As daylight approached a mist rolled in from Puget Sound over Boeing Field and clouds started to gather, obscuring the fading stars.

PRAIRIE WHEAT ESTIMATED NOW AT 254,230,000 BUSHEL

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Sept. 9.—The wheat crop of the prairie provinces is estimated at 254,230,000 bushels in the twenty-fifth annual estimate prepared by the Manitoba Free Press and published this morning. The figures show 27,220,000 bushels for Manitoba, 117,880,000 for Saskatchewan and 109,730,000 for Alberta.

The yield per acre in Manitoba is at eleven bushels, in Saskatchewan eight and one-half, and in Alberta sixteen. The report was prepared after two editors had motored 9,647 miles, visiting all the major wheat growing areas and combining the reports of 377 correspondents. Yields are most cases based on seeded acreage, not on harvested acreage, it is stated.

In addition, The Free Press reports the prairie oats yield at 150,960,000 bushels, barley at 48,101,000 bushels, flax at 2,249,000 bushels and rye at 6,919,000 bushels.

The seed bed of 1931 was one of the driest on record, says the report. Precipitation for the entire crop, in the growing and ripening period, was phenomenally low.

Figures of precipitation in inches for the three provinces, with the ten-year average in brackets, is noted as follows: Manitoba 7.92 (10.57); Saskatchewan 5.95 (10.52); Alberta 7.51 (10.80).

ARBITRATION IN SASKATCHEWAN

Canadian Press
Estevan, Sask., Sept. 9.—Conciliation between miners and operators of this district under the conditions provided by the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act is expected within the next twenty-four hours.

Meetings were continuing to-day as a result of which it is expected arbitration will be made to Ottawa for a board of conciliation to settle the dispute, as a result of which approximately 400 men are idle in this area.

Although employees of the International Clay Products Company were added to the strikers' forces yesterday, no serious disturbances were experienced. Mine operators have taken precautionary measures to protect valuable machinery and equipment.

The strike, which was called by the Mine Workers' Union of Canada, has affected nine major lignite mines. The Truxar-Trayer plant was operating to-day. It is not directly affected, due to the fact that it is not a deep seam mine and does not employ underground workers. Many of the 400 men officially on strike had in fact been unemployed for some time. Their present idleness therefore does not affect operation of the mines.

SNOW COMES IN FOOTHILLS OF SOUTH ALBERTA

Canadian Press
Calgary, Sept. 9.—Snow spread over the foothills of southern Alberta to-day, ending the forest fire threat and putting water in dried streams and rivers where fish had been stranded in little pools when the water disappeared in the extremely dry weather. The snow's initial appearance of the season hindered harvesting operations, much to the farmers' discomfort, but it was welcomed by weary forest-fire fighters.

Fire raging in the vicinity of Coleman and Blairmore, Alta., for the last two weeks were extinguished when the first snow fall came. Lethbridge reported snow covering the mountains, with several inches in the valleys. Fire-fighters had maintained constant vigil since August 25 in the mountains were trekking homeward to-day, it was reported.

In the Calgary district snow commenced falling about 9 o'clock this morning. Large flakes came down, melting as quickly as they struck the ground. The countryside had received a good soaking since rain commenced Sunday, continuing until it changed to snow flakes this morning.

UNEMPLOYED IN DEMONSTRATION IN LONDON

London, Sept. 9.—A group of unemployed held a demonstration outside the House of Commons yesterday evening while the debate was proceeding. They sang the "Red Flag" and jeered at a large force of mounted and foot policemen who were gathered in the neighborhood. Some alarm was shown in the large crowd which had gathered to watch the floodlight effect at Westminster, but no organized attempt was made to enter the Commons chamber. One man who attempted to do so was pushed on by police.

There were shouts of "Down with MacDonald," and a number of members of the group sold pamphlets denouncing the government. Seventeen persons among the demonstrators were arrested.

BALDWIN SAYS MACDONALD IS COURAGEOUS

Pays Tribute to Premier in Opening Debate of Session of British Commons

London, Sept. 9.—Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, President of the Council and Conservative leader, said in the debate in the Commons yesterday that the Conservatives believed a protective tariff was the only effective remedy for an unfavorable balance of trade. But in view of the urgency of the situation the Conservatives had been willing to postpone consideration of the tariff. He paid a tribute to the courage of Premier MacDonald, declaring: "We are going to see this matter through. We are going to give the Prime Minister full and hearty support to achieve the object for which this government was created."

Sir Oswald Mosley did not believe the measures proposed by the government would meet the situation, but added his group (four members) did intend to offer serious opposition. He thought those who did not support the government measures should be content in registering dissent.

CHURCHILL SPEAKS
Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, interrupted by a Lorisio shout of "New Musical," was emphatic there would be no revival of British industry until there was more tariff protection. He believed—there would be no restoration of confidence until the Socialists were decisively defeated at the polls. Referring to the joint Conservative and Liberal support of the new government, he exclaimed an unexpected convulsion had achieved what no argument could have accomplished.

"Now we are all together," he continued, and this remark brought loud ironical cheers from the Laborites.

James Macdonald, member for Brighton, Glasgow, scoffed at the government's proposal as mean, misery and legislation that was expected to start new taxes rolling into the depleted exchequer.

WELFARE OF NATION
Closing the debate for the government, Sir Herbert Samuel, Home Secretary, declared there would be no dithering. The government would proceed. "If we are opposed," he added significantly, "we shall throw ourselves on the decision of the whole House, in whose hands lies the welfare of the nation."

MAJORITY IS FIFTY-NINE
The vote of confidence that followed the debate gave the new National Government a majority of fifty-nine. It stood 309 to 250. It was the first vote of a session called to balance the budget.

Voting with the majority were twelve Labor members, including Premier MacDonald; Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer; Rt. Hon. J. T. Thomas, Dominions Secretary, and four other ministers. All the Conservatives and Liberals supported the government, as did three of the Independent members.

Three other Independents, including Oliver Baldwin, son of the Conservative leader, voted against the government. The four Mosley members supported the opposition and three Labor members abstained from voting.

CROP OUTLOOK BRIGHT OVER PRAIRIE AREA

Grains in Northern Area in Satisfactory State, Bank of Commerce States

Canadian Press

Toronto, Sept. 9.—The most favorable factors in the prairie crop situation are the satisfactory state of grains in the northern area and the indications to date that the general quality of wheat will be high, says the monthly commercial letter of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Eastern Canadian crops are almost uniformly good, reports the letter.

Although business is without great vitality, the report proceeds, it is not so weakened that it cannot make a strong showing in the records of world business or take advantage of any favorable openings.

"Side by side with almost continual industrial retrogression," the bank's letter continues, "with crop damage in western Canada and unremunerative prices during last summer, there have been such counter-influences as good crop conditions over the greater part of eastern Canada, an increase in construction work in recent months, an active tourist trade and lower production costs."

Armed Seattle Bandit Takes Auto and Cash From Company Man

(Canadian Press)

Seattle, Sept. 9.—A rough, unshaven bandit, posing as a grade crossing flagman, robbed Valno G. Granfors, twenty-nine, independent Petroleum Company bookkeeper, of about $4,500 in cash and cheques and his automobile yesterday. There was about $4,500 in cheques.

Granfors said that, following his custom, he drove to the company's plant on Harbor Island to collect the money and take it to the downtown office. As he started away, approaching a railroad crossing, the man stepped out and flagged him. Thinking a train was nearing, Granfors stopped. The "flagman" stepped to the side of the car, showed a pistol and said, "Let me in."

He pushed Granfors out of the machine and drove away.

The bookkeeper telephoned police and prowl car crews raced through the industrial district, seeking the bandit.

Full directions, carefully worked out by French hair dressers, come with every bottle. They show you exactly how to use it through wonderfully simplified charts.
Thus, you're assured of perfect results every time. Deep, natural finger waves no matter how straight your hair may be. Waves that often hold perfectly as long as two full weeks.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Many Friends Congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Richardson at Enjoyable Party

Golden wedding anniversaries have been celebrated in Victoria recently by a number of residents and the latest couple to reach this milestone in wedded life is Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson, of 1949 Shakespeare Street, who on Friday last were surrounded by members of their family, six grandchildren and many friends in honor of the occasion, at the home of their eldest daughter, Mrs. E. Davidson, Doncaster Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson were married on September 4, 1881, by Rev. W. S. Wright at St. Leonard's Church, Fesham, Farnham, Hants, Middlesex, England.
Mr. Richardson arrived in Victoria in 1912, and was followed by his family in the summer of 1914. Mr. Richardson was superannuated from the city road department in 1929, after having been employed since 1914.
Mr. and Mrs. Richardson were the recipients of many congratulatory messages and gifts, among which were a number of gold pieces.
Last month Mr. Richardson received a letter of congratulation from the secretary and officers of the Manchester Unity, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Middlesex, England, on having held continuous membership for forty-nine years, having joined the order in 1882.

The reception was arranged by Mrs. E. Davidson and Mrs. William O. Clunk. On the table, decorated in gold crepe paper and novelties, stood a three-tier wedding cake.
Immediate members of the family and friends, who were guests at the reception, were Mr. and Mrs. W. Richardson Sr., Mr. and Mrs. W. Richardson Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William O. Clunk, Mr. and Mrs. W. McIlwaine, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hampden, Mr. and Mrs. F. Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Miss Dolly Dunbar, Miss M. Richardson, Mr. P. Clunk, Mr. F. Clunk, Mr. R. Clunk and Mr. R. Davidson.

ESKIMOS WILL HERD REINDEER

Scandinavian Families on Way to Give Instructions

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 9.—On their way to the mouth of the Mackenzie River, where they are to instruct the Eskimos in the herding of reindeer, three Scandinavian families from the Finnmark province of Norway passed through this city. All three families are old friends, and each has its complement of children, one of them is only two months old, and the others ranging from two to five. The baby is traveling in an unusual cradle of reindeer hide, which is suspended from the mother's neck by thick thongs, very much as though it were an Eskimo. It is called a komso.

These men and women are all experienced reindeer herders, having been engaged in this business in their native country for a number of years. They have been brought out to Canada by A. E. Forslid, of the natural resources department of the Canadian government. It was Mr. Forslid who several years ago made a complete survey of northwestern Canada with a view to determining the advisability of establishing there permanent reindeer herds for the benefit of the native Eskimo population. As a result of his recommendation a herd of 3,000 domestic reindeer is already on its way from Alaska, and will be permanently established at the mouth of the Mackenzie River by the time the Norwegian herders arrive.

Mr. Forslid, who is traveling with the party on the journey, is accompanied by Mrs. Forslid, an experienced woodsman, and his daughter Edith, who is also not without experience on the trail. To Mrs. Forslid goes the distinction of being the first woman to fly over the Arctic Circle, she having made such a flight while in northern Canada with her husband in 1929.

SUNSHINE CAMP TO CLOSE SOON

Last Group of Women and Children Will Leave Camp September 15

The regular monthly board meeting of the Social Service League was held at headquarters on Friday evening last. It was reported that the last party at the Sunshine Camp at Sooke is composed of mothers, small children and lone women numbering in all thirty-five. These guests will remain until September 15, when the camp will close for the season. A feature of the closing will be a concert arranged by the mothers, followed by a special treat prepared by the staff.

A timely donation of $25 has been received by the league from the King's Daughters. It was reported, also, that further contributions will be received as $100 is needed to meet the expenses of the summer camp. A total of $1,095.69 has been received during the summer.

The regular meeting of the league has increased, owing to unemployment, which has increased family welfare problems.

Thanks were extended to the King's Daughters for a cheque sent by them to assist in the care of a friend of the league, sick in hospital.

It was stated that several of the contributors to the camp were sending in monthly cheques, which assisted greatly in rendering service to the 233 families helped during August.

A study group for volunteers will be organized shortly, and any one wishing to join is requested to communicate with the staff at the office, room 45, Arcade Building.

CRISIS TESTS FAMILY LIFE

Social Services Uniting to Help in Big Cities of Dominion

Canadian Press
Calgary, Sept. 9.—The unemployment crisis is the severest test family life in Canada has had, according to Miss Charlotte Whittin, executive director of the Canadian Council on Child and Family Welfare. Before the Calgary council of the organization, Miss Whittin stressed the fact that most families live just on the subsistence level with no resources to cope with any emergency such as unemployment.

The migration from farm to city, she continued, has changed the family from a self-contained unit, more or less independent, into a group, which economic and social forces are threatening to destroy. In many of the large cities in Canada, she said, a council of social agencies, uniting all social services and finances, has been formed to protect family life. The body is known as the Bureau of Family Services.

She described the misery and evils unemployment is having on family life in the Dominion.

VILLAGE SUPPLIED TRANSIENTS MEALS

Luseland, Sask., Sept. 9.—Rather than have them asking for food from door to door the village council served 183 meals in four days to the men who had come into the town looking for work with the farmers. A number of them were put to work in the cemetery to clean up the grounds, also the park and other street work around the

YOUR BABY and MINE

IRREGULAR EATING IS UNDESIRABLE FROM MANY STANDPOINTS

Eating between meals is a bad habit for children. Irregular foods at irregular hours spoil the appetite and cause children to be finicky about foods which they would normally eat with relish.

Piecing between meals keeps the stomach in a constant state of activity, and stomachs appreciate rest periods as much as all other organs of the body. Children should understand that meals come only at regular intervals. This knowledge eliminates the teasing and whining for something to eat which keep the mother on edge.

ALWAYS HUNGRY

In part this answers the question of Young Mother, who complains that her boy of six wants to eat constantly. She writes, "I am interested in your column, and I would like your opinion about my boy of six years. He is large and strong for his age and always well."

"I am told he eats too much. He will eat a very hearty meal and in twenty or thirty minutes come in again and say he is hungry. Then he will eat a large piece of bread and butter and jam, cold vegetables, or anything that is around. He is quite happy and normal, but he does this every day. I am almost ashamed of the amount he eats. Will you tell me what to do?"

INSIST HE EAT REGULARLY

Insist that the boy stay at the table a full half-hour at mealtime. If he finds that it is impossible for him to run away and return later to fill up the chinks, he'll eat all he wants at each meal. If he does go away from the table warn him beforehand that he can't have any more food until the next meal. If you live up to this conscientiously, it won't require more than one or two days for him to learn his lesson.

Rest assured that he is not hungry. If he ate a hearty meal, hunger would be impossible in twenty or thirty minutes. Hunger is a sensation which becomes active only when the stomach is empty. It is not possible for the stomach to be empty in less than three or four hours after eating. However, the child might be so uncomfortable after a hearty meal that more food would, for the moment, allay that discomfort.

The habit of eating away from the table should not be cultivated. The child will be in school this year and he cannot continue the habit, so it should be cut off promptly. One can as easily grow accustomed to stuffing as to starving oneself. Either habit is undesirable.

We have a leaflet on "Diet From Five to Eight Years" that will enable you to judge whether the child is receiving all the foods he needs for satisfactory growth. You may obtain the leaflet by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope for it. Address your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, "Your Baby and Mine" Department of this newspaper.

To-morrow: "Incurability Often Results From Too Much Attention"

NEW FASHIONS STRESS FREEDOM

Langvin Shows Accordion-pleated Skirts and Pyjamas; Much Fur Used

Paris, Sept. 9.—Langvin favors freedom in costumes with skirts flared from the hip and below the hip for evening. Accordion-pleated skirts and pyjamas, especially in velvet, are important. Skirt lengths are unchanged. Long day coats follow smooth, straight lines, buttoned up the front with important patch pockets and separate belts. Evening coats and all-fur sleeves on wool coats are noted.

Coats and wrist-length jackets with fur or fur-trimmed waist-length cape backs are outstanding. Waist-length fur capelets, are featured for evening wraps. Leopard on a flame velvet jacket is an unusual Langvin note for evening. Skunk is a new trimming for day and evening. Golden seal is also used for day.

Dot or star print velvet or satin is the material for many afternoon gowns. A chain armor silver belt is an afternoon novelty.

Langvin evening features are separate jumper blouses with bright silver embroidery on the bodices, one-piece draped draperies of taffeta and lacework bow trimming on a net foundation decorating taffeta gowns. Net flounced armholes are featured. Trick new short puffed sleeves, mounted like a Japanese kimono in front and back, meet in a point to form the upper corage. Black with white or natural is Langvin's favorite daytime combination. Wood violet is a new color.

Langvin hats are high tams, tilted on the side, halos or pointed turbans. New brides wear waist-length tulle veils, reduced to slender proportions, and ruffles in faintly flared tiers. Bodices are buttoned up the front but not fitted, finishing in a flat peplum. Flowing bell sleeves are trimmed with tiers at the wrist.

Langvin coats, flowing from the shoulder, have small capelets, standing fur collars and upper sleeves widened by two fur-trimmed tiers. Ermine sleeves added to the same type of capelet make novel evening wraps. Detachable capelets, lying on over fur-collared coats, are an evening feature. Smart striped and wool shirts of six tiers, developed in chiffon instead of still silk, are shown for evening.

The day length is as usual. For evening ankle-length or training gowns are shown, some with irregular hemlines. Evening coats are three-quarter or long.

Langvin abandons rough woollens for smooth, and velvet waist-length for all hours and brocades for evening.

Many one-piece lounging pyjamas are seen. Trailing paradise or algerettes or high-pointing quills trim tilted hats.

GANGES HOLDS ANNUAL FAIR

Fine Exhibition Opened at Mahon Hall This Morning By M. F. Macintosh, M.P.P.

Ganges, Sept. 9.—The annual exhibition of the Salt Spring Island Agricultural Association, which filled Mahon Hall and grounds, opened this morning at 11 o'clock by Capt. M. F. Macintosh, M.P.P. for the Island. The show was notably excellent, although the recent heavy rains had reduced the floral display below the high standard of the blooms exhibited last year.

The ferry made a special trip from Sidney to Ganges this morning, bringing large number of visitors and the "Victoria Girls" band, who played throughout the day. The ferry called again at 4 o'clock to take visitors back to Vancouver Island.

A scheduled feature of this afternoon's programme will be the football game between the strong Ganges eleven and a team of visitors from Pender Island.

DRESS-LIKE COATS ADD TO CHIC OF FALL MODE

By JOAN SAVOY

Coats, like dresses, are ushered in by the new mode for fall.

They are made of such soft, pliable materials that they mold to the form in much the manner of fine street frocks.

They fasten about the hips and waistline, or belt at the waistline in the most orderly manner. Nothing flies about as did the scarves, capes, unbelted fullness or fur trim last year. The first requisite this autumn promises to be neatness. Everything in order, everything fastened, no extra gadgets. And all this gives a woman such a well-groomed look that everybody is bound to find herself living up to the reputation.

TWEED IS FOR TRAVEL

Tweed coats for travel, for college girls and for autumn days that are just coming on the market make much of fitted skirt portions, slightly bloused waist portions, intricate cut and some fur trim.

All the range of browns is excellent color for new coats. Mixtures in soft tweeds are fine and unobtrusive, giving dash to the garment.

One of the new coats is of a knobby tweed in a cocoa mixture that has a blue fox collar that ends without meeting in front. This coat has its skirt portion cut very cleverly, with fullness at the bottom, yet a straight line appearance and a fitted hipline that is sweet and flattering. Above this the waist blouse without a belt.

The sleeves have no fur, which is very new and good this year. The hat has feathers for a bandeau and a wisp of a veil.

A second tweed is a beige mixture made with fitted cut and a belt and a handsome beige fox scarf collar that ties shut with a bow of the tweed, so soft is the fabric. A little beige hat is handsome, with fine seaming like the coat's.

ject of birth control. That's all there is to it. No flowers, no wedding gown, no attentions, no music, no ceremony and no honeymoon.

But should things not prove satisfactory during the same day they both may return to the license bureau, the only stipulation being that they arrive before closing, and submit any complaints or objections and then be declared divorced.

NO HOME LIFE

Home life is not encouraged in Russia. It is not within the teachings of the Soviet. Couples legally may live together and have children—and if so desired the government will place the children in an institution so they may grow up never to learn of their parents' identity.

It takes a learned and experienced economist to do the Russian household shopping. Butter is $1.50 a pound, and eggs are ten cents each. Dr. Lincoln told of one of his friends paying $8.50 for the laundering of a little wearing apparel, far more than the original cost of the goods.

There are no games played in Russia, according to Dr. Lincoln. Life is far too serious. There are no parties, dancing only in the theatres, which are not greatly patronized; no home gardens and one rarely sees cultivated flowers, he said.

returned to their home in New Westminster on Friday.

Mrs. C. E. Orr has returned to her home in Victoria after spending a few days as the guest of Mrs. A. Allison, Old West Road.

A "country fair" was held on Monday afternoon and evening at Strawberry Vale School by the Strawberry Vale Women's Institute. The many stalls did a thriving business and games of chance and the fortune teller were well patronized. Numerous electric lights strung among the trees supplied light during the evening.

The members wish to thank the Order of St. George for the loan of equipment, the Park View Greenhouse for supplying the electricity, Mr. and Mrs. Huntington for the loan of a gramophone, Mr. and Mrs. Wray Jones for records, Mr. Harper and Mr. Huntington for wiring and assisting with arrangements and Gilbert McNutt who gave rides on his horse.

Those in charge of stalls were: Candy and soft drinks, Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Humphries; hot dogs, Mrs. Huntington and Mrs. Mett; ice cream, Mrs. Harper and Mrs. Gardner; coconut shy, Ian Humphries; baseball dummy, Mr. Austin and Mr. Gillham; house-urns, Mr. Humphries and Mr. Rowland; Aunt Sally, Mr. Healey; horseback riding, Gilbert McNutt.

Mrs. A. Laycock entertained at dinner on Friday in honor of her aunt, Mrs. Freer and her cousin, Mrs. Hodge, of Toronto. Covers were laid for eight with "additional guests arriving later for cards and music. Several solos were rendered by Mrs. Hodge, who is a member of the Mendelssohn Choir of Toronto. Accompaniments were played by Mrs. Claude Murdoch of Oak Bay. Rev. H. A. Ireland and Mrs. Ireland

THE SPOR'S MIRROR

Don Beaten by Combination of Misfortune and Trickery
Low Blows in Baseball and Fight Game Interesting Argument
Old-time Field Day May Be Revived by Major League Players

KAYE DON, like many other British challengers before him, has attempted to wrest the Harmsworth Trophy, emblematic of world speedboat supremacy, away from the United States and failed. However, Don has more success than any of his predecessors, and with any kind of good fortune would have carried the plaque to the other side of the Atlantic. Don was beaten by a combination of misfortune and trickery on the part of Gar Wood, often called "The Gray Fox" of the motorboat racing game.

No doubt many people will figure Wood displayed poor sportsmanship by beating the gun and tricking Don into going the line ahead of the starter's signal, and thus disqualifying both boats, and practically giving the race to Wood's Miss America VIII, slowest of the three contending craft, which followed well in the wake of the other boats and crossing the starting line at the required time.

It must be remembered that Don had his own watches and there was no reason whatever for him to follow Wood across the line ahead of the starter's signal. And then, again, Don only beat the gun by a mere two seconds, which is pretty fine figuring. Don, if he had not been the gun, would have been practically a cinch to win the race, as Miss England II would have had no trouble beating the slower Miss America VIII, and in view of the fact that he refuses to discuss the start it appears like he realizes the fact.

Although he lost the series, Don clearly proved that Miss England II is the fastest motorboat yet built. The British craft's great performance in the initial heat, when Don finished a mile and a half in front of Wood's Miss America, IX, demonstrated the world's straightaway record holder is capable of.

Mickey Cochrane, catcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, has brought out an interesting feature regarding low blows. Mickey says that he has seen in major league baseball, including himself, has been "struck low" by foul balls and yet he never saw a backstop stay down or go out of the game as a result. He has seen pitchers "hit low" and the protectors worn smashed flat by terrific line drives, any one of which travels with much greater speed and impact than any foul ball. Down, they jump up and go on with the game. Cochrane would like to know why fighters don't act the same way.

It's very simple. A ball player has nothing to gain by rolling on the ground and consequently that he can't get up, so he gets up. A fighter may get away with a claim of foul and win his bout without any more risk or hard work.

In the states of New York and California the no-foul rule has practically ended fouls. In the latter state if a fighter is fouled the bout is fought over again within two weeks, the fighter's purse being held up and paid out for the second bout unless there is another foul, in which case the payment of the fighter, or both fighters, is forfeited. After a couple of main events had ended in fouls and the men had been forced to fight again for the same money all fouling and foul claims stopped. Claiming fouls was no longer a popular sport.

In a baseball field day, such as the major league teams used to stage years ago, out of the question. Some startling results might be achieved by such a carnival. Perhaps a series of ball throwing, fungo hitting, base circling events could be staged in the name of charity without any offence to the beneficiaries.

In earlier baseball days such contests were popular. Twenty-one years ago such a tournament was staged. Sheldon Lejeune, a minor league player, heaved a baseball 426 feet, and there is no record of anybody beating that throw.

Bunting was an art then, as it is coming to be again. Hans Lobert and Ward Miller of the Cincinnati Reds bunted and made first in 3 2-5 seconds.

A player named Rowan of the Cincinnati Reds fungoes a ball 398 feet 6 1/2 inches, but in 1911 Ed Walsh parked one 419 feet from where he stood. It's almost a safe bet that Babe Ruth, with a couple of practice tries, could beat that 20 feet any day.

Can Ben Chapman beat the old base-throwing record? At Cincinnati Chapman of the Pittsburgh Pirates and Lou Gehrig of the Reds sped around the bases in 14 flat. Then something like ten years ago Maurice Archibald made the trip in 13 2-5. Clockers timed Earl Swanson of the Reds a few years back in 13 1-5.

There are dozens of athletes in both leagues who would like to try for records in various events. It would be something worth watching.

DEMPSEY WILL MEET SHARKEY OR BIG PRIMO

Former Heavyweight Champion to Battle Winner of Bout Carded October 1

Jimmy Johnston Will Promote Battle; Dempsey Appears in Tacoma To-night

New York, Sept. 9.—Jack Dempsey meets the winner of the Jack Sharkey-Primo Carnera fight on October 1. This announcement was forthcoming from Jimmy Johnston, promoter of the Sharkey-Carnera bout, yesterday.

The news was released during and following a meeting of the New York state athletic commission. It had decided to recognize Jack Sharkey, Boston, as the "heavyweight champion of America," and ruled his bout with Carnera for the "American heavyweight title."

This latter step was taken at the request of Leon See, Carnera's manager. SCHEMELING IGNORED

In making this decision the commission disregarded Max Schemeling, world champion, who is under suspension here, and Mickey Walker, the former middleweight champion, who had been scheduled to fight Sharkey. Johnston told newspaper men he had closed with Jack Dempsey, former champion, to meet the winner of the bout. The fight would be held here next spring.

Johnston said that Monday night he made a long-distance phone call to New York, where Dempsey was staying on his "comeback tour," and that the old champion promised him the match.

Dempsey will see the Sharkey-Carnera bout here on October 1, and will sign articles at that time, according to Johnston.

Tacoma, Sept. 9.—Jack Dempsey will show his wares to northwest fight fans again to-night when he boxes four rounds in Tacoma.

The Tacoma card is being staged under the auspices of the Junior League and is attracting more interest than any fight ever staged in that city.

Jack is slated to box George Rickard, Marine Raineri, Young Jack Dempsey and Wayne Pitts. Raineri and Young Dempsey are coming out of retirement themselves to box Jack.

Raineri was one of the toughest fighters at his weight in the game in his prime. Young Dempsey used to pack a dynamite sock and still has a lot of the old wallop.

RICKARD IS GOOD

George Rickard is one of the best heavyweights that Dempsey has been called upon to box since his tour started some weeks ago.

BARRACKS TEAM TAKES HONORS

A. H. Baker captured the individual honors with 40 and C. O. A. Mayne was second with 37, O. S. Mutch having 32 for third.

Commander R. S. Agnew presented the prizes and Captain Thomas Hall and Detective William Stark refereed.

SPORTS

JIMMY THOMPSON

Once again the influence of hockey may be noted in the new revised game of box-lacrosse. The game has been speeded up until many now rank it as next to hockey for speed.

However, another factor is that there are bound to be many rules in the old game that will fit in the new. Many years ago in hockey the puck was faced off in the same manner that the ball is faced off in lacrosse to-day.

That is, with the referee placing the puck between the sticks of the opposing players. The ref. was required to be more than smart to clear out of the way of a couple of swinging sticks of hockey.

Fred Waggoner Jr. decided that it was useless to have one's arm battered up by a couple of excited players when all that was necessary was to drop the puck to the ice. This was the introduction of the bounce system, which eventually was adopted by all hockey organizations the world over. Now, since lacrosse has become a game on almost the same scale, it has been decided that the same system should be used to great advantage in box-lacrosse.

KIRSCHMEYER IN HOSPITAL AFTER CRASH

Former All-America Football Star Badly Hurt When Hurler From Ring By Freberg

College Wrestler Lands in Chairs; Fan Knocks Grappler Out With Bottle

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 9.—Thrown from the ring during a wrestling exhibition with John Freberg, Poland Kirschmeyer, former all-American football star and graduate of Oklahoma A. and M., was rushed to a hospital in a serious condition yesterday evening.

The accident occurred in the fifth round of a scheduled eight-round mix, when Freberg applied a flying wristlock. The Oklahoman, six feet six inches tall, went hurtling through the ropes, landing in a row of chairs on his chest.

Before anyone realized how seriously the Oklahoman had been injured, Freberg was awarded the bout. It is believed the grappler is suffering from several fractured ribs and a possible lung puncture.

Kirschmeyer had gained one fall in the early part of the fourth when he downed the rugged Freberg with a flying scissor hold.

Freberg is known as a rough and ready grappler, but yesterday evening's fall was not due to that kind of tactics, as it was a case of the Oklahoman falling to land against the ropes, but going through them.

Santa Rosa, Calif., Sept. 9.—Leo Papiano, 300, Stockton, won the feature match of the wrestling programme here yesterday evening, but his opponent, Joe Varga, 302, Italy, almost stole the show.

Papiano won the first fall in twenty-two minutes with what ringsiders described as a "kick in the face." Varga won the second fall with a flying headlock in thirteen minutes. He had the Stockton grappler on the floor with another headlock, but Papiano reached up and slapped Varga on the back. Believing it was the referee notifying him he had won the third fall, Varga arose and Papiano downed him with a flying tackle in three minutes.

Papiano then left the ring, but Varga stayed to make a speech. He protested violently against Papiano's tactics and had just finished calling Papiano a "small town sport," when a pop bottle struck him behind the ear, knocking him out. A near riot ensued and the police were called.

Mike Adams, Calistoga barber, was arrested for throwing the pop bottle and charged with assault.

J. S. Davis, Maps, was arrested after it was charged he struck Adams several times with the knuckle of his right hand, and was charged with striking Adams with the knuckle of his left hand.

Gar Wood Violated The Rules Of Fair Play With "Smart Trick" Says Paper

London, Sept. 9.—"If Gar Wood derives any satisfaction from the legal retention of the trophy, that is his affair," said The London Morning Post, commenting to-day on the unsatisfactory conclusion to the Harmsworth motorboat speed trophy races on the Detroit River, when Kaye Don, British challenger, and Gar Wood were disqualified after Don had won the first heat decisively.

"Gar Wood violated none of the written rules, but the rules of fair play which can never be written," The Morning Post added.

The London Daily Telegraph declared Gar Wood had done ill service to the fine traditions of American sportsmanship. Fair-minded Americans themselves were the first to condemn the "smart trick" which caused the disqualification of the challenger, Miss England II. The Telegraph said.

Harmsworth Trophy "Winner" Remains Complete Mystery

George Wood, Brother of Famous Gar, and Driver of Miss America VIII, Claims Series But Racing Commission Disagrees and Decision Will Remain With Yachtsmen's Association; Miss America VIII Loaded Around Course Alone Yesterday; Series May Be Called "No Race"; Miss England II Is Raised From Detroit River

Canadian Press

Detroit, Sept. 9.—Miss America VIII loafed around the Detroit River course alone at 50.849 miles an hour yesterday in what may or may not have been the third heat of the Harmsworth Trophy race.

Two days after Gar Wood, American defender, and Kaye Don, British challenger, were disqualified in Monday's heat for crossing the starting line ahead of the gun, no one knew for certain whether there was a Harmsworth race.

The international racing commission ruled Monday evening the 1931 attempt to lift the emblem of water speed supremacy was "no race."

Yesterday, Gar Wood's brother, George, who piloted Miss America VIII to last place in Sunday's heat, which Don won with a record-breaking average speed of 59.913 miles an hour, and who was the only driver to finish Monday's heat, protested the "no race" ruling.

As a qualified member of the American team, he demanded the right to run the third heat and thus "win" the trophy for the United States rather than allow it to remain here solely on a challenger's disqualification.

Edenburn had left Detroit for Toronto yesterday evening before the word from Chapman was received. The point at issue is whether any name shall go into the records of the international competition and on the trophy plaque as the 1931 winner.

If Edenburn's ruling of yesterday that Miss America VIII "won" the race by completing half of the thirty-mile distance is sustained, the name of a thirteen-year-old boy probably will be recorded as the winner. He is Garfield Arthur Wood Jr., son of Gar Wood, who has held the trophy since 1920.

He is listed as owner of the only boat to complete the race. George Wood's name under those circumstances would go into the records as driver of the winning boat.

Don's ill-fated Miss England II, which was swamped by the wash from Gar Wood's Miss America IX at the first turn Monday, was raised from the bed of the Detroit River yesterday. Its hull was badly damaged.

Recruit Pitchers Are Brilliant In Big League Debuts

Bill Harris, Pittsburgh, Is Latest Rookie to Come Through in His First Appearance in Majors; Pitched Pirates to a 3 to 0 Win Over Cincinnati; Mooney, Giants' Latest Find, Wins Sixth Straight; Lefty Grove Wins Twenty-eighth Game as Philadelphia Downs Washington

Three recruit pitchers have made brilliant debuts in the National League in the last few weeks. Jim Mooney, formerly of Bridgeport, came from nowhere to become one of the New York Giants' stars. Monday Van Mungo stepped up from Hartford to pitch a great game for Brooklyn and now Bill Harris, who just came to Pittsburgh from Fort Worth, has joined them in the high places.

While Mooney was winning his sixth straight game for the Giants yesterday, Harris pitched his first for the Pirates and won it by a shutout. He allowed the Cincinnati Reds only five hits in a brilliant duel with Jack Gidycz and Benny Frey, and earned a 3 to 0 victory. The Pirates made only four hits, but two of them were combined with two walks off Ogden and an error in the first inning to produce all three runs.

Mooney, who has yet to taste defeat in the big league, hurled the Giants to an even break in their doubleheader with Philadelphia. Phil Collins downed the Giants for the second time in a row in the opener, besting Bill Walker 3 to 1 as the Phils scored three times in the fifth. Mooney, although hit ten times, was effective to all but one inning of a struggle against Sheriff Blake and scored a run himself in the eighth inning to produce a 4 to 3 victory.

RELIEF PITCHER WINS

Another good pitching performance came from Moore, Brooklyn, the remaining National League game. Moore relieved Babe Phelps with the bases full and none out in the first and pitched nine full frames to win 10 to 8 as his supporting cast hit three Boston pitchers hard and dropped the Braves into a tie with Philadelphia for sixth place.

The outstanding American League mound performance again was left in the capable left hand of Robert Moses, Grove of the Philadelphia Athletics. Grove set Washington down with seven hits and fanned seven to record his twenty-eighth victory of the season against three defeats. The Senators kept things close until the seventh inning when an eight-run assault, capped by Jimmy Fox's twenty-third homer of the season, drove Sam Jones from the mound and made the final score 10 to 1.

The defeat left Washington only one game ahead of the New York Yankees, who, with Boston, had an off day.

CLEVELAND WINS PAIR

Cleveland continued its spurt by taking two games from the Chicago White Sox to make it six victories in three days. The Indians were outlived in both games, but came through with a late rally against Bob Welland to take the opener 8 to 7, then drove Pat Caraway from the hill with a five-run rally in the first inning and won the second game 6 to 3.

The St. Louis Browns regained the top place in the second division by a half game margin on the strength of two home runs that beat the Detroit Tigers 2 to 1. Outlived 6 to 6 in the first, the Browns got all their runs on four-baggers by Dick Ferrell and Red Kress.

Hunting Season Will Commence On Saturday

Blue Grouse and Buck Deer Will Be Lawful Game

Hundreds of Hunters Will Be Out Bright and Early Saturday for Ushering of 1931-32 Season; Birds and Deer Reported Plentiful in All Districts; Recent Rains Make Hunting Conditions Ideal; Bag Limit on Grouse Is Six for a Day; Deer Is Three for a Season

Reports of shotgun and rifle will resound from the woods of Vancouver Island on Saturday morning with the opening of the hunting season on blue grouse and buck deer. According to reports received from the Provincial Police hundreds of hunting licenses have been sold with a last-minute rush looked for Thursday and Friday. With this announcement it looks like there will be the usual big first day crowd in the woods bright and early Saturday morning.

CANZONERI FAVORED TO WHIP BERG

Lightweight Champion 2 to 1 Favorite For 15-Round Bout To-morrow Night

Berg Confident of Winning on Record of Victories in New York Rings

New York, Sept. 8.—Jack (Kid) Berg bases a strong belief that he will whip Champion Tony Canzoneri in their fifteen-round lightweight title bout to-morrow night on the fact that the battle will take place in New York.

The mauling British battler points to the fact that he never has been beaten in a New York ring, all of the fights that he has had having been suffered in other sections of the United States.

The betting fraternity, however, is content to string along with the champion. Prospects were that Canzoneri would enter the ring a 2-to-1 favorite. Neither will have any trouble making his weight. Canzoneri, the former featherweight champion, fights regularly at 131 to 133 pounds and was at the latter figure yesterday. Berg scaled 135.

Jimmy McLarnin Arrives Home in First Class Shape

Vancouver, Sept. 8.—Jimmy McLarnin was back in the bosom of his family yesterday, having arrived home Saturday from his one-bout ring campaign in New York. Speaking of the battle with Billy Petrolle, Jimmy says he had things well in hand at all times, and came through in fine shape. He had stood up well over the ten-round route, he states.

Pop Foster, Jimmy's manager, is in Los Angeles, having gone there from Berkeley, where Jimmy left him last week. If there is a California bout in the air, Jimmy does not know of it, as future plans being most indefinite.

One of the highlights of his eastern tour, according to Jimmy, was the eighteen-hole golf score of 77 he accomplished while training for Petrolle.

Watching the Majors

Only one small gain was registered yesterday in the batting averages of baseball's Big Six. Eddie Morgan helped Cleveland along with three hits in seven times at bat and brought his mark one point closer to those of Al Simmons and Babe Ruth, who were tied. In the National League half, all marks dropped, with Bill Terry sliding into third place behind Chuck Klein.

Terry's one hit in eight tries let him drop three points, while Klein lost only one with two out of five. Davis, with two hits in eight times up, lost two points.

Thousands At Funeral Of Football Player

Overflow Service Necessary When John Thomson, Scottish Star, Laid to Rest

Pastor Criticizes Spectators Who Cheer When Opposing Players Injured

Glasgow, Scotland, Sept. 8.—So many thousands were clamoring to attend the memorial services to John Thomson of the Celtic football team, Scottish international goalkeeper, who died following a kick on the head in a soccer match Saturday, that an overflow service was held immediately following the service proper.

Peter Wilson, Celtic half back, and David McEljohn, captain of the Glasgow Rangers, who should have read the lesson, were unable to get through the big crowd. Samuel English, Rangers centre-forward, with whom Thomson had collided, sat with his head buried in his hands and broke down completely when "The Dead March" was played.

The service was conducted by Rev. H. S. McCallie, himself a keen footballer.

"I witnessed Thomson's death," he declared. "If those thoughtless crowds who call themselves Celtic or Rangers followers—who both teams disown—who gather behind the goals and cheer themselves hoarse when a member of the opposing team lies writhing in pain, can be brought to realize by this tragic happening the brutal cruelty of their action, then John Thomson will not have given his life in vain," the clergyman said solemnly.

Thomson received fatal injuries while making a daring save during the match between Rangers and Celtic at Ibrox Park.

Jack Howell was elected vice-president, and Clyde Savage secretary-treasurer. Twenty-four teams will compete in the league with matches taking place every Wednesday evening at 7 and 8 o'clock.

At 8 o'clock this evening the Commercial Pilepin League will organize for the season in the Olympic rooms.

C. Conacher Loses Car For Speeding

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 8.—Charles Conacher of the Maple Leaf Hockey team is the first victim of a new method devised by Premier George S. Henry, Ontario, to curb speeding motorists.

Conacher said yesterday that he unknowingly passed the Premier's car at a good rate of speed, and later a constable, under the Premier's orders, had visited his home and seized his license plates. And now Conacher, auto salesman, is without his car until the Prime Minister decides to return the markers, which will probably be within a few days.

Jasper Park Lodge, Alta., Sept. 9.—The sixth annual Totem Pole golf tournament which will open at Jasper Park Lodge on Saturday next will bring out a very strong and representative field of golfers from various parts of Canada and the United States. He announced to-day that Vancouver has forty players entered, Victoria ten with twenty-two from various parts of Washington and Oregon. ## LANDS MINISTER BACK FROM EAST

Hon. N. S. Loughheed Returns After Lengthy Stay in Ottawa and Other Centres

Hon. N. S. Loughheed, Minister of Lands, returned yesterday from an extended visit to eastern Canada, including Ottawa, where he supervised the separation of records respecting federal control of the railway belt lands now in charge of this province.

All records dealing with the portion of the land coming under care of the province will be sent out to Victoria. The task of separating them from the original records, which were part of the larger administration of the area in the western provinces, is practically completed, he reported.

Mr. Loughheed took up the question at Ottawa of the creation of two federal park areas in the province, following representations from the gov-

Oregon Mist Springs Surprise to Return $63.05 For $2 Wager

Fans at Colwood Track Get Thrill When Sporti Brings Home Long Shot in First Race Yesterday; Best Price Paid So Far at Local Tracks; Favorites and Second Choices Went Other Six Events; Mills Up on Three Winners

Patrons at the Colwood racetrack yesterday had the thrill of seeing the longest shot of the present local season come through in the first race of the day when Oregon Mist, with Sporti aboard, beat a classy field to return $63.05 for a $2 nose bet. The mare paid off at $15.30 for place and $8.55 for show. In the other six races on the card the favorites or second choices got down in front.

Another good crowd was in attendance and betting showed a fair increase over the corresponding day last season. A feature of the afternoon's card was the blanket finishes seen in three of the events.

Going on top from the barrier Oregon Mist managed to stay in front and capture the first to pay off at handsome figures. Super Fashion was second and Shasta Maple third.

A CLOSE FINISH

One of the closest finishes of the season was witnessed in the second over five and a half furlongs for two-year-old maidens. Entering the stretch King Han, with Craigmyle up, was out in front, but before the finish, Leon's Dame and Matonian closed strongly and the three horses went across the line in a bunch with King Han getting the call over Leon's Dame, with Matonian third.

Little Broom chalked up his second straight victory in the third by making a show of his field. Moonchild was second and Lady Spain, the favorite, third.

The fourth race saw Verna Loan come back after relinquishing the lead to Jack Beaman on the back stretch and win by two lengths over the fast-closing Flying Somers. Jack Beaman managed to save third money.

Going into the lead on the turn into the stretch, Sporting Vein managed to hold off the stiff challenge of Flashy and win the fifth event over a mile and a sixteenth. Sporting Vein was a heavily-backed favorite. Will Ward finished third, paying $7.60 for a show ticket.

TERRIFIER RUNS WELL

After getting away last and following the field for the half, Terrifier displayed a fine burst of speed to take the lead at the head of the stretch and manage to gain a nose decision from the fast-closing Swift Cop. Poles was second.

Jockey Mills brought home his third winner of the afternoon when he piloted the favorite, Skoll, across the line in the seventh. Sixpence closed fast and was just beaten by a nose to take second money. Tennessee finished in third place.

Watching the Majors

Only one small gain was registered yesterday in the batting averages of baseball's Big Six. Eddie Morgan helped Cleveland along with three hits in seven times at bat and brought his mark one point closer to those of Al Simmons and Babe Ruth, who were tied. In the National League half, all marks dropped, with Bill Terry sliding into third place behind Chuck Klein.

Terry's one hit in eight tries let him drop three points, while Klein lost only one with two out of five. Davis, with two hits in eight times up, lost two points.

Thousands At Funeral Of Football Player

Overflow Service Necessary When John Thomson, Scottish Star, Laid to Rest

Pastor Criticizes Spectators Who Cheer When Opposing Players Injured

Glasgow, Scotland, Sept. 8.—So many thousands were clamoring to attend the memorial services to John Thomson of the Celtic football team, Scottish international goalkeeper, who died following a kick on the head in a soccer match Saturday, that an overflow service was held immediately following the service proper.

Peter Wilson, Celtic half back, and David McEljohn, captain of the Glasgow Rangers, who should have read the lesson, were unable to get through the big crowd. Samuel English, Rangers centre-forward, with whom Thomson had collided, sat with his head buried in his hands and broke down completely when "The Dead March" was played.

The service was conducted by Rev. H. S. McCallie, himself a keen footballer.

"I witnessed Thomson's death," he declared. "If those thoughtless crowds who call themselves Celtic or Rangers followers—who both teams disown—who gather behind the goals and cheer themselves hoarse when a member of the opposing team lies writhing in pain, can be brought to realize by this tragic happening the brutal cruelty of their action, then John Thomson will not have given his life in vain," the clergyman said solemnly.

Thomson received fatal injuries while making a daring save during the match between Rangers and Celtic at Ibrox Park.

Inner Cleanliness is just as necessary as your Bath and Cosmetics

Don't envy youthful, glowing skin. You, too, may quickly enjoy that sought for aid to charm.

Clear, beautiful skin depends upon internal cleanliness.

Clogged, poorly functioning digestive tracts cause unsightly skin blemishes—sallow skin—dull eyes—sagging facial muscles.

Cosmetics can only hide the unhealthy condition.

To look well and be well, one must be cleansed internally every day.

Throughout the world, women have come to rely upon a dash of ENO in the morning glass of water, to insure health and clear skin.

ENO'S "Fruit Salt" is gentle, safe, non-habit-forming. It creates an alkaline condition that keeps the stomach sweet and the intestines free of poisonous waste. And ENO is delightfully refreshing and pleasant to the taste.

Procure this time-proven remedy from your druggist. Remember, there is no substitute. Only ENO can give ENO results.

ENGLAND SEEMS PROSPEROUS TO VICTORIA MAN

S. J. D. Clack, Back From
Tour, Declares Old Country
Appears Little Troubled

Tremendous Amount of British Capital Finding Its Way to Canada Now

Despite the general impression to the contrary, England, on the surface, appears to be more prosperous than it has ever been, according to the observations of S. J. D. Clack, of the Royal Trust Company, who returned to Victoria on Monday after a three months' vacation in Great Britain and Europe.

Although he had not gone into the economic conditions intensively, Mr. Clack stated the people of England generally seemed to be spending more money and having a good time far more than they had when he lived there or during any of the subsequent trips he had made to the land of his birth.

Farmers in the Old Country, however, were having a rough road to travel. With the Soviet dumping policy making it virtually impossible for them to compete on the domestic market, many bankruptcies were reported. In this connection Mr. Clack stated he had been informed that whereas an English farmer estimated the cost of producing a bushel of wheat to be about forty-five shillings, the Russian product could be bought, in England, for eighteen.

HAVE SAVINGS TO DRAW ON
But even the farmers, to a large extent, had their savings on which to draw in case of dire want, and conditions for them, in case of a crop or market failure, were not as severe as they would be in Canada.

Although there were still a number of people in England who remember poor investments made in Canada and consequently doubt the advisability of sinking capital in the Dominion, there was a tremendous amount of English money making its way to this land, Mr. Clack stated.

Generally the feeling in England and over Europe was that Canada, with its vast natural resources, would be one of the countries which would recover most quickly from a world depression.

British Columbia stood high in the confidence of the English, he added.

TOURIST TRAFFIC DOWN
Throughout his tour Mr. Clack found hotel and resort leaders complaining about the lack of travel by Canadians and citizens of the United States since the general business slump. Strange to say, he continued, the English people, not necessarily of unusual means, were traveling a great deal.

Superficially the people of England seemed to be "fed up" with politics. But there was a general feeling throughout Great Britain and Europe that the eventual outcome of present difficulties would be found through the concerted action of an international system.

Many of those who considered economics seriously had the feeling that the capitalist system had outlived its usefulness. They were looking for another system to replace it, but did not necessarily turn to Communism.

Mr. Clack said, "Everyone he had met during his tour spoke of the economic condition of the world, but the majority referred to it chiefly as a topic of conversation and showed no inclination to go deep into the question."

FINE ITINERARY
Mr. Clack made a trip to England with his wife and children, visiting Devonshire, Bath, London, Cambridge, Hastings, Liverpool, and other well-known cities. Later he proceeded with his wife to tour the continent, stopping off at Paris, Nice, Genoa, Rome, Florence, Milan, Lucerne, Wiesbaden, Cologne, and other celebrated European cities and resorts.

While in England he saw Henri Cochet, French tennis ace, bow in defeat to Nigel Sharpe, and saw Frank Shields defeat P. D. B. Spence, the

LEAVE IS GIVEN TO AMEND CLAIM

Vancouver, Sept. 9.—Leave was given by Mr. Justice Fisher in the B.C. Supreme Court yesterday to the trustee of the bankrupt estate of Theo. Frontier and Co. Limited, Kamloops, to amend a $252,000 claim against Solloway, Mills and Co. Limited and the firm's principals, I. W. C. Solloway and Harvey Mills.

G. L. Fraser made the application. At the request of Gordon Sloan, appearing for the defendants, the judge extended the period to one month for filing a defence. Mr. Sloan said he thought Mr. Solloway had left Montreal for Europe.

The plaintiff was also authorized to examine W. E. Williams who was Solloway-Mills' chief trader in Vancouver. He must attend for examination in two weeks.

Although Mr. Sloan contended the amended claim set up a new cause of action, in which fraud was alleged, Mr.

Dahlia Show To Be Held Here Friday

Probably the finest flowers in the Provincial Exhibition were the dahlias, and if the blooms at the Victoria Dahlia Society's show in the Chamber of Commerce Friday and Saturday are anything like those, one of the finest displays in the history of the organization should be presented to the public. Every variety of dahlia, pom-poms, single blooms, hybrids and decorative, will be entered, and many fine new types as well.

Entry forms for the event may be obtained from the secretary, W. B. Christopher, care of Fox's Cutlery Store, 644 View Street.

DUPLICATION OF TRAIN SERVICE IS CRITICIZED

G. C. McDonald Addresses
Canadian Chamber of Commerce
on Country's Problem

Regina, Sept. 9.—"If the Canadian National Railway system was anything but a government enterprise it would long ago have been subjected to the process of liquidation," declared George C. McDonald of Montreal, chairman of the executive of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, addressing the annual convention of the chamber here Monday evening.

The most important problem facing Canada to-day, Mr. McDonald said, was that of the railways. He reviewed Canadian National Railway finances as he saw them, and said: "May I just refer to the position of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the effect on it of competition from an organization that is getting the country into debt? My conviction is that something drastic must be done, and that very soon."

DUPLICATION PROBLEM
"The situation is that we have two organizations nearly always duplicating the work of each other, both in equipment and service, where there is work for only one," said Mr. McDonald. "It seems something could be done to bring them under joint administration by some controlling body whereby the duplication could be eliminated and enormous savings effected to the great benefit of all parties concerned. This I regard as the most important business problem facing Canada to-day."

While the world situation was the principal cause of the present depression, it was accentuated or minimized by particular situations in different industries enterprises or localities, he said. Many, if not all, Canadian industries had troubles. Wheat, pulp and paper, lumber, mining, particularly copper, nickel and asbestos, transportation and all the other allied or dependent industries faced difficulties.

OVER PRODUCTION
Some of these had special troubles of their own. There was no doubt over-production got the greatest blame. Sometimes the other side of the picture was accentuated—under-consumption. In particular instances the troubles were due to mismanagement. "May I invent a title for another class of troubles—those due to inequitable or improper distribution of profits," he said.

"Two things would make for more stable conditions of business and continued prosperity," he said, "namely, a more general recognition of the fact that capital is not the only risk-bearer, and that as such entitled to all or the principal part of the surplus profits of an enterprise, and, secondly, a better appreciation of the fact that the more chance you give your customer to make money out of what you sell him, the longer will he remain your good customer."

Gold Strike In Ontario Arouses Great Interest

Kirkland Lake, Ont., Sept. 9.—A surface-gold strike in Lee Township, made by F. P. Collins, has aroused considerable interest locally. Visible gold in nugget form, with fine gold scattered through the ore was found by Collins, he said on his return here with samples. The property is near Bonkeres on the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway and three miles from the Ferguson highway.

N.Z. BUTTER NO LONGER SELLING

Little Offered This Morning;
Local Strawberries on Sale

Because of the eight-cent tariff and four-cent duty on it, New Zealand butter has practically gone off the local market. Two of the most prominent retail stores have none to sell this morning and one retailer said he would have no more for sale. In their efforts to compete with Canadian producers, the New Zealanders have apparently found the twelve cents a pound imposition too much.

BIG EATERS GET ACID STOMACH

Take Magnesia to Neutralize the Acid and Keep Stomach Clean and Digestion Perfect

If you're a hearty eater; if you must have three big meals a day, eat them. But after each meal you should neutralize the dangerous acids that your food forms in the stomach, says a noted authority. When your stomach is overloaded, its food contents soon sour and develop acid that practically paralyzes the stomach's activity long before the work of digestion can be completed. Then the stomach becomes weak and "cranky" and you are daily suffering from indigestion, gas, sourness, bloating and after-eating pains. Your appetite goes—you're sick and whirly—what used to be the joys of a hearty meal become a menacing nightmare.

To quickly neutralize this dangerous acid, cleanse and sweeten the stomach, help the stomach take care of a hearty meal without pain or distress, go to your nearest drug store and get a little pure, unadulterated, a powerful, harmless, inexpensive and quickly effective treatment used by thousands of folks every day.

EAST OBTAINS EQUAL FREIGHT TO AUSTRALIA

British Columbia Gets No Benefit From Coast Location

Chamber of Commerce to Bring Matter Before Vancouver Trade Board

Freight rates from eastern Canadian ports to Australia are no higher than those in effect from Victoria and Vancouver, the Victoria Chamber of Commerce has been informed by C. F. Armstrong, district freight agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway, in response to an inquiry from the directors.

The matter was brought to the attention of the directors this afternoon and will be the subject of a report by a special committee, and will also be brought to the attention of the Vancouver Board of Trade. J. O. Cameron said that British Columbia should not complain if the manufacturers of St. John or other eastern centers had been lucky or skillful enough to get freight equality, so long as no discrimination existed.

James Parfitt, vice-president, suggested that the equality indicated that the rate from British Columbia should be lower. It was remarked that the new rate to Australia was extended by private shipping concerns, which had met the Pacific coast rate struck by the subsidized Canadian Government Mercantile Marine.

R. W. Mayhew, president, remarked that the eastern ports had severely criticized trade treaties with Australia. They had done everything possible to upset the arrangement. The new freight rate would probably lower the rate from British Columbia to Australia, but a haulage 4,000 miles longer than from British Columbia.

Bennett testified he advised his friend to go home and get some sleep. Davidson had evidently been out all night in the pouring rain, his clothes were soaked through. He refused to go home. He told Bennett he was good to anyone, wished him good-bye and displayed a bottle of poison. Bennett led the man around to the road, where he kept him in conversation for several minutes, hoping someone would come along.

But no one came, so Bennett struggled with Davidson to try to wrest the bottle of poison from his hand. Davidson escaped and ran down the road. Bennett went for help.

John Mitchell described how he had seen Constable Pecknold of the Esquimalt police, searching in the bush on the night of the murder. Mitchell told him he was looking for Davidson. Mitchell joined the search and found the young man lying face down. He shouldered his rifle and a little from the spot. When he returned he saw Davidson in the act of withdrawing the poison bottle from his lips and throwing it in the bush. He helped carry the dying man to the road.

John Molloy, sailor, told the jury he had heard Mitchell's cry for help and, arriving by the prostrate body of Davidson, he took to Mitchell. He watched it while Mitchell himself went after the police. Davidson, Molloy testified, did not look like a dead man. He was in charge of the association's physical department.

The physical department committee now acting is composed of H. S. Hammett, chairman, Harold Bourne, secretary, and Peter McKee and P. W. Bartholomew, executive members. In addition to Archie McKinnon, Viv. Shoemaker and W. S. Maguire, physical director, boys' work secretary and general secretary, respectively, who will conduct classes throughout the year, 1932, the committee also includes a group of men exceptionally adept in gymnastic work, will assist in the work.

All are well versed in this particular field and should doubtless make the season this year one of the best.

Others to give evidence were Dr. John McCallum, who said the poison in the bottle shown to him was quick-acting hydrocyanic acid. He testified that he did not see the events which followed, but that this was evidently the time that Davidson took the poison.

Mr. Pulmer said his employee had always been cheery, and had never told him of any troubles. Davidson had been in the store for several days, when he left the store. As far as the witness knew, Davidson had not returned after that hour.

COUNCIL MEETS IN MORNING

A full agenda awaits the deliberations of the City Council at another early morning session starting at 9 o'clock to-morrow in the council chamber. The report of the committee of the whole in connection with the unemployment relief program for submission to the Provincial Government will be presented for adoption, it is expected.

YOUNG CLERK TOOK POISON, JURY FINDS

John Davidson Was Afraid of Losing His Job He Told His Friends

Suicide by poisoning while in a state of temporary mental derangement was the jury's verdict in the inquest at Sands Mortuary this morning into the death of John Davidson, twenty-three-year-old drug clerk, who was taken from the bush off Admiral's Road early Sunday afternoon in a dying condition. Coroner E. C. Hart conducted the inquest, and Christopher McKie was the jury foreman.

William Bennett, a friend of Davidson's, told how he had spoken to the man about 12.45 o'clock Sunday afternoon. This was in the backyard of Davidson's house. Davidson had asked the time, and confided to Bennett that he would probably lose his job, as he was supposed to have opened the drug store, where he worked, at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Bennett testified he advised his friend to go home and get some sleep. Davidson had evidently been out all night in the pouring rain, his clothes were soaked through. He refused to go home. He told Bennett he was good to anyone, wished him good-bye and displayed a bottle of poison. Bennett led the man around to the road, where he kept him in conversation for several minutes, hoping someone would come along.

But no one came, so Bennett struggled with Davidson to try to wrest the bottle of poison from his hand. Davidson escaped and ran down the road. Bennett went for help.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)
Winnipeg, Sept. 9.—Wheat prices held within a narrow range of about half a cent to-day. The Free Press report was somewhat bearish but had little or no influence on the market. Offerings were light throughout the session, and there was some fair buying of October by seed houses, and while this demand was not keen, it was fairly steady, especially on the dips from top levels.

There is export business working but figures were not obtainable as the business is being done mostly by sea-board. New York estimated sales overnight at around 400,000 bushels.

There was a report on the floor from London that Russia was shipping high-grade wheat, and another from London that the option was growing that Russia would not ship more than 60,000,000 bushels of wheat this year, and that this shipping would be almost completed during the first two and a half months. The local cash market had just a moderate demand. Winnipeg closed 1/4 to 1/2 lower.

Coarse grains. These markets continued dull and featureless. While there is very little pressure the demand is quite light with no export business working. There are some bullish reports being received as regards the rye crop. Barley unchanged to 1/4 higher and rye 1/4 higher.

Flax. A little firmer tone, closing 1/4 to 1/2 higher, but light.

Liverpool due 1/2 lower, based on Winnipeg.

BONDS CONTINUE DECLINE; RECESSIONS FRACTIONAL

Canadian Press
New York, Sept. 9.—The bond market continued to decline irregularly to-day.

The downward movement in the rails, which scored many of the larger losses yesterday, was not so broad, however, and most of the recessions among them were fractional. The public utility and industrial groups were more vulnerable than yesterday.

American Telephone 56 of 1960 and of 1965 were two of the most active public utilities at fractionally lower levels.

One weekly report of car loadings for the week ended August 29 showed an increase of 15,053 cars over the preceding week, but as the aggregate loadings of 783,764 cars were 220,746 cars less than the total for the corresponding week of 1930, the report was not regarded as a favorable factor.

Declines in rail bonds were not so severe as yesterday. Baltimore and Ohio 4 1/2% of 1960 was about two points lower at one time.

Most of the United States Government securities were unchanged on moderate sales.

Foreign obligations were quiet.

STOCKS DOWN AT MONTREAL

B.C. Power "A" unchanged; Shawinigan Slips on News of Dividend Cut

Canadian Press
Montreal, Sept. 9.—The stock list was depressed to-day.

B.C. Power "A" closed unchanged at 38 1/2. Shawinigan reacted 1 1/2 points on the news of the cutting of its dividend. The stock closed at 38 1/2, off 1 1/2.

Canadian Pacific touched 7 1/2, and closed at 7 1/2. Royal Bank of Canada at 23 1/2 was off 1 1/2. Brazilian common closed unchanged. International Nickel was unchanged. Smelters were down to 7 1/2, early but regained a point to 7 1/2 at the close.

Unfavorable weather continues in many parts of Europe, and to a great extent this season has duplicated the disastrous rainy summer of 1924, when weather abroad was a big factor in carrying along the bull market of that year. Russian reports suggest less competition later in the crop year, and pressure now abroad is mainly in the under 1/2 range.

BIG MISSOURI MAN TRADER AT VANCOUVER

Furnishes Chief Interest at Quiet Session; Drops One Cent By Noon

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Sept. 9.—Big Missouri furnished most of the trading interest during a quiet session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange this morning, opening at 21 cents and dropping a cent before noon. The total turnover was again small, although prices were at about the same level as the last week or two.

Cotton Belt, drilling in the Fisher Creek area in Alberta, held at 20 cents, Georgia River sold at 3 1/2, and Pioneer Gold at 2 1/2. Let's weaken a little, opening at 10 1/2 cents and dropping to 10 cents. Premier was fairly firm, with bid and asked quotations standing at 52 to 55 cents.

Noranda sold at 22 cents, in the oil columns, with Royalite turning over at 6.00 and Home offered at 42 cents, without bids.

BEARS CONTROL TORONTO MINES

Eldorado Loses 13 Cents; Noranda Recovers 25

Canadian Press
Toronto, Sept. 9.—Under pressure, issues on the Standard Mining Exchange continued downward to-day. Eldorado lost 13 cents. Wright-Harveys, Mining Corporation and Comgas were off from 2 to 5 cents each. McIntyre gained 35.

Most of the ten-cent ventures were off 11. McLeod River gained 3 and Macassa and Premier were somewhat higher.

Noranda recovered 25 to just above $19, but nickel was down a like amount and Hudson Bay lost 10. Chemical Research lost $1 at $2.25. Ajax sold off 5. Noron was down 3. Acme Gas a cent.

HUDSON'S BAY COMPANY HEAD NOW IN CANADA

Canadian Press
Quebec, Sept. 9.—B. Ashley Cooper, newly-appointed Governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, arrived in Quebec yesterday on the Canadian Pacific line.

Express of France for the purpose of studying the whole Hudson's Bay organization in this country.

Mr. Cooper said he did not know exactly what would be done in connection with organization work in Canada, but he would be in a better position to state something after he had been over the ground and had seen what possibility there was of organizing a Canadian company.

NEW YORK WHEAT

New York, Sept. 9.—Banded wheat closed steady 1/4 per cent all day.

TORONTO MINES

(By Logan & Bryan)
Toronto, Sept. 9.—The stock list was depressed to-day.

B.C. Power "A" closed unchanged at 38 1/2. Shawinigan reacted 1 1/2 points on the news of the cutting of its dividend. The stock closed at 38 1/2, off 1 1/2.

Canadian Pacific touched 7 1/2, and closed at 7 1/2. Royal Bank of Canada at 23 1/2 was off 1 1/2. Brazilian common closed unchanged. International Nickel was unchanged. Smelters were down to 7 1/2, early but regained a point to 7 1/2 at the close.

Unfavorable weather continues in many parts of Europe, and to a great extent this season has duplicated the disastrous rainy summer of 1924, when weather abroad was a big factor in carrying along the bull market of that year. Russian reports suggest less competition later in the crop year, and pressure now abroad is mainly in the under 1/2 range.

IF SHE has "That sinking feeling" She must have MC BOVRIL

Heart of Liane
by MABEL McELLIOTT

"I've been thinking this over. I'm afraid I rushed you into this affair. It doesn't seem quite fair to you."

"In what way?" She was puzzled.

He stared moodily ahead of him.

"Oh, I don't know. It isn't precisely a young girl's dream of romance. This marriage of convenience, I mean."

A wave of scarlet dyed her face. He put out a protesting hand.

"It is that, isn't it?"

She frowned. "I suppose so. Only I hate the sound."

"You must forgive me. I express things very crudely. What I am trying to say is that you deserve a happier fate than being tied to a stick like me."

"You're not a stick," Liane's tone was almost angry. She meant what she said. She would not permit him to talk of himself in this fashion.

"Thanks," his laugh grated. "But I've never been much of a success with women. I just don't seem to have the right touch."

"You've never tried to be a success, as you call it."

He glanced at her gratefully.

"How did you know that?" he asked.

She smiled. "Eye's wisdom in her smile."

"I can tell," Liane spoke with the air of one experienced.

"You're sure you want to go through with this thing? I'm several years older than you are, remember. I don't want to feel I've taken advantage of a child." He looked pleased, but unconvinced.

"Do you really think I'm that?" She threw back her head, regarding him coolly. She felt years older than Clive at that moment.

"No, I don't," his level gaze met hers and there was surprise in it. "You were a month or two ago. But you're grown up."

"I'm standing by my agreement," Liane said calmly. "Unless you've decided it's not what you want."

"But I do—I was only anxious to be fair to you."

She held out her hand. He took it in a handshake disconcertingly strong. "It's all settled, then. The engagement stands."

She was more than ever determined now to go through with it. First for her mother's sake. Now because Muriel had come to cross over her. She would show her and the world how much—how little she cared!

CHAPTER XVII

"My dear," began Mrs. Cleopatra expansively. "I can't tell you how glad I am Clive is brightening up so."

Liane looked up. In her plain black frock with the bronze gold of her hair demurely framing her rosy face she looked like a happy child this morning.

"He does seem more interested, doesn't he?" she observed demurely. The old lady favored her with a sharp glance.

"Very," she said with firmness. "And he seems to have given up his plan of going east. At least he doesn't speak of it any more."

Liane cast down her dark eyes. The lashes made a faint shadow on her cheek. Now was certainly not the time to speak. No, that would be too precipitate. What should she say, when the time came? Mrs. Cleopatra, your son has asked me to be his wife. No, no, that would never do. That was too stiff and old fashioned. And then, too, the news should come from Clive direct. Would his mother like it? Would she be offended that she had not been let into the secret earlier?

BEDTIME STORY Uncle Wiggily's Red Peaches

BY HOWARD H. GARIS

"Nurse Jane," said Uncle Wiggily, looking over the table at his good old muskrat lady housekeeper, "I want to tell you something."

"What?" asked Miss Fussy Wussy, who was getting ready to go to a bunch of chicken feathers on the end of her tail and dust the piano. "What do you want to tell me, Uncle Wiggily?"

"I want to tell you," said the rabbit gentleman, "that I think this is the best plum pudding I ever had," and he took another helping of it.

"I am glad you like it," said Nurse Jane.

"I am just wondering," went on Mr. Longears, "whether you could make a peach cake?"

"A peach cake," said Nurse Jane with a smile, "of course I can make a peach cake, but not out of plums."

"Oh, of course not!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily as he twinkled his pink nose. "I would be silly to expect that. 'Til I go get you some peaches just as I went and found the plums. And then will you make me a peach cake for my supper?"

"I will make you a peach shortcake," promised Nurse Jane.

"But don't make it too short," Uncle Wiggily begged. "We want a shortcake that will be as long as my nose."

"Hopping along, over the fields and through the woods, Uncle Wiggily went to find a peach tree."

Now about this time the Naughty Bear was roaming through the woods holding his paw on his sore nose. He met the Bob Cat and the Bob Cat, with his silly little tail, asked the Naughty Bear:

"What's the matter with your nose?"

"Uncle Wiggily hit me," growled the Naughty Bear.

"What with?" the Bob Cat wanted to know.

"A stone," grumbled the Naughty Bear.

"What kind of a stone?" mewed the Bob Cat, who not only had a silly little tail, but also had a habit of asking questions.

"It was a stone, or pit, from the inside of a purple plum," said the Naughty Bear. "So if you ever catch Uncle Wiggily, and see him eating plums, don't let him throw the stone that is inside the plum at you."

"No, indeed I shall not!" promised the Bob Cat. "I am on my way now to catch Uncle Wiggily, and if I see him eating a plum I'll take it away from him before he can throw at me the stone that is inside."

"O.K." said the Bear, and away he walked as naughty as ever, rubbing his sore nose which I told you about in the story before this one. So every one hopping along, over the fields and through the woods, Uncle Wiggily met a pussy cat lady who was on her way to the store to buy a bottle of milk for her children.

"Excuse me," said Uncle Wiggily, politely taking off his tail, silk hat and making a bow, "but can you tell me where to find a peach tree? Nurse

Why Some Women Don't Marry Dorothy Dix Lists Reasons for Spinsterhood

Old Maids May Be So as a Result of a Natural Disinclination for Marriage, a Lack of Opportunity, Selfish Parents, or Because They Were Either Too Choosy or Too Cowardly

A GROUP of old maids were having a heart-to-heart talk about why they never married. "The reason I never married," said one of them, "is because I am celibate by nature. I was born an old maid and predestined to spinsterhood from my cradle, and that kind of a woman neither attracts men nor is she attracted by them."

"This doesn't mean that I am a man-hater. Far from it. I like men. I enjoy their society and I have always had many good men friends, but I like my men at a distance, so to speak. I never imagined myself in love even when I was sixteen and the very thought of marriage has always been repellant to me. I have never seen a wedding ring that looked as good to me as my latchkey, and when I think of giving up my freedom and my financial independence and my interesting job and putting it in some man's power to make me miserable, why, cold shivers just run up and down my back and I thank my heavenly stars that I am enjoying single blessedness. Instead of having taken a chance on double wretchedness."

"The reason I am an old maid," said the second woman, "is because I never had a chance to marry. Oh, I was pretty and attractive as a girl and doubtless I should have married if I had had the opportunity. But I grew up in a small village in which there wasn't a single eligible male. Every manjack who was able-bodied and husky and had any pep in him had left to make his living elsewhere and our little Main Street was an Adamless Eden so far as matrimony was concerned."

"Why, all of our parties were hen parties and we girls even had to dance with each other, and girls who grew up in that sort of an overcharged feminine atmosphere get sort of woman-minded. They prefer the society of women to men because they are accustomed to it and are more interested in the woman's point of view than the man's. They can't adjust themselves to men's ways."

"And they never learn how to handle men. They are always too eager or too indifferent, and so when I got out into the world where there were men I did not know the technique of attracting them. I did not know what sort of bait to use. To be an expert fisherman you have to learn the art while you are young."

"I never married because of my mother," said the third woman. "I had one of the monopolistic mothers who cannot endure the thought of her precious darlings ever growing up and getting married and leaving them. Of course, no mother really wants her daughter to be an old maid. She desires her to marry eventually, but she wants to put off the evil day as long as she can, until Mamie is fifty or sixty or until she is dead and won't know about it, and she forgets that marrying is a young business and that if a girl doesn't get to the altar in her early twenties she has a mighty slim chance of getting there at all."

"I wasn't so hard to look at when I was in my teens and the boys didn't shun me, but every time one would come to the house mother would treat him as if he was a burglar who had come to steal the spoons and he would never come back again. Many an eligible youth she froze out by sitting up in glum silence when he had the temerity to call, and when one ventured to have a date with me mother met us at the front door when we returned with a questionnaire of where we had been and what we had done that frightened the boldest away."

"She shoed all the marrying men off our premises into the back yards of the girls whose mothers lent them a helping hand in getting good husbands, instead of driving them away, and by the time she began to wonder why I was spinster my chances of marrying had gone by."

"The reason I never married," said the fourth woman, "is because the men I wanted never wanted me, and the men who wanted me I wouldn't have on a bet. Of course, some women are not so choosy and when they can't get their preference they marry their possibility, but I have always felt that a husband was a luxury instead of a necessity, and if I couldn't have one who came up to my ideal and fired my fancy I would rather do without the darn thing."

"I have always had a clear picture of my Prince Charming in my mind's eye: somebody tall and slim and strong and noble and intelligent and who would love me for myself alone, and I have met two or three men who filled the part and whom I could have loved and would have been glad to marry. But every one of them passed me by without giving me a second glance, while I have had a fatal attraction for little, short, fat men and fussy men who didn't know their own minds and lame ducks who needed some old hen to mother them, and no poor widower with a house full of little children can come within my edis without thinking how useful my money would be in taking care of his children and popping the question to me."

"I never married because I was a coward," said the fifth woman. "My mother and father were bitterly unhappy and I grew up in a home of strife and to think of marriage as an earthly purgatory in which a man and a woman tormented each other. Later on I knew, of course, that this need not be true and that there are many happy marriages, but my early impression was too strong to be eradicated and I never had the courage to risk my own happiness. I played safe and stayed single."

"Well," said the first woman, "we old maids have missed a lot, and that goes my way you take it."

DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Ray's Corner

Wood Lighter Than Cork

If you saw a man carrying a gooder tree on his back, you would think he was very strong.

Twenty years ago a sea captain took a ship into a small bay on the coast of South America. Indian tribes lived in the region. While visiting one of them, Captain Lundin and his daughter reddish, and at least one kind is bluish red.

Ironwood (found in India) is so hard it blunts any tool which is used to cut it. The cotton tree of India, on the other hand, has wood so soft that a person can push a pin into it by the pressure of a finger, almost as easily as if he were pushing the pin into a cake of soap.

Cypress wood is noted for its long life after being cut into timber. A cypress chest in the British museum of London is about 650 years old. The "Cedars of Lebanon," famous in ancient times, have also produced long-lasting timber.

Cedar wood is widely used for making chests to hold linen and woolen cloths. For reasons of their own, clothes moths stay away from cedar chests—it seems that they do not like the odor. Chests made of birch wood are used for packing tea.

Report Willingdon To Retire Denied

Simla, India, Sept. 9.—It was stated in official circles at Simla, summer capital, to-day, that there was no justification for press reports which have appeared in London to the effect that Earl Willingdon, Viceroy of India, may retire before the normal expiration of his term of office.

According to the London reports, Lord Willingdon contemplated retiring before his time was up on the grounds of ill-health. He has recently been suffering from a slight attack of dysentery, while Lady Willingdon had a slight attack of fever.

AT THE THEATRES

PAUL LUKAS IS STAR IN PLAY AT DOMINION

"Women Love Once" Also Stars Eleanor Boardman and Is Entertaining Picture

"Women Love Once" is the intriguing title of the picture which opened to-day at the Dominion Theatre with Paul Lukas in the starring role. It will show all day to-morrow and will have its final showing Friday evening.

"Women Love Once" is a tense absorbing picture. It is the story of a happy family whose placid contentment is all but dispelled by the force of worldly circumstances. Lukas is seen as the artist husband who, with his wife, Eleanor Boardman, and their four-year-old daughter, Marilyn Knowlton, live a peaceful existence in a big city.

But the serenity is jarred when Juliette Compton, wealthy society patroness of things artistic, persuades Paul to go to Paris to improve his technique so that he can qualify for the higher forms of the daubing art.

Miss Boardman has no misgivings about the trip. In fact she urges Paul to go, making this sacrifice in the hope that it will result in a richer future for them all.

But when he returns Paul is a changed man, and his old-time love for his wife and child is chilled by a flair for the less tangible tea-table confab at Miss Compton's home.

There follows a series with her husband—and Paul is threatened with scandalous disgrace, when another event changes the aspect of Paul's and Eleanor's lives, bringing them to the happy ending.

"Women Love Once" also gives Eleanor Boardman a great chance to "connect" with the public as a talkie performer. She does not miss the chance. Her enactment of the wife and mother role in this picture, is a very bright spot in the season's round of acting.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Because of his charming English accent and his regal features, youthful Bruce Line was chosen by Paramount to enact the role of little Max, the boy king of Slovakia in "Forbidden Adventure," the comedy chronicle of kids and grownups in Hollywood and London, now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

The search for the proper lad to enact this part in the screen version of Sinclair Lewis' novel was an intense one, lasting more than a month. Hundreds of children were interviewed.

Bruce, who is ten years old, was born in Marlborough, Massachusetts, while his family was in the United States on a visit. Except for accompanying his parents to America on a subsequent trip, Bruce has lived mostly in Australia where he went to school.

Ambition to be an actor was aroused in him when Nancy Carroll was on the same boat coming from Honolulu recently. Miss Carroll and Bruce became great friends during the voyage.

Bruce was attending the Hollywood Community School, but now will join Mizzi Green, Jackie Searl and other motion picture children at the Paramount School.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

The late President Taft was one of the ardent admirers of George Arliss and the two became friends after the play "Disraeli" had run some years. He once told Arliss that whenever he went to a play after that he asked himself, "Do I like it as well as Disraeli?" The newest Arliss production, "The Millionaire," now at the Columbia Theatre, which is from an Earl Derr Biggers story about an American business man, would doubtless have pleased the genial ex-president.

COLISEUM THEATRE

Frederick Lonsdale, famed for his inimitable witticisms, has given to the screen something entirely novel in the way of high comedy dialogue. The British and Dominion Film Corporation certainly knew what they were about when they signed an agreement with him to reproduce some of his most popular stage plays. The foremost of British and Dominion's has proved to be more than justified, and "On Approval," now being shown at the Coliseum Theatre, is one of Lonsdale's greatest stage successes which ran in London for many months, but been transferred to the audible screen without losing any of its point and vivacity.

COMING TO COLISEUM

The London Evening News says of "Tell England": "A talkie triumph for Anthony Asquith—'Tell England,' coming to the Coliseum Theatre on Saturday, is a brilliant piece of work pictorially, and contains many novel and impressive ideas in the use of sound. 'Tell England' shifts the war film into a new field, and is such a capable bit of work that it may well achieve greater success than the film of 'Journey's End,' and some of the triumphs of 'All Quiet.'"

Where To Go To-night

ON THE SCREEN
Capitol — "Forbidden Adventure," Mizzi Green.
Coliseum — "On Approval," British International Picture.
Columbia — George Arliss in "The Millionaire."
Dominion — "Women Love Once," with Paul Lukas.
Playhouse — "The Third Alarm," Hobart Bosworth.
Crystal Garden — Swimming, Dancing and Miniature Golf.

VISIT OF MISS BARRYMORE IS BIG FEATURE

Famed Actress's Appearance at Royal Saturday Eagerly Looked Forward to

When Ethel Barrymore, who is popularly referred to as the "first lady of the theatre," comes here Saturday at the Royal Victoria Theatre in Sheridani's immortal comedy, "The School for Scandal," local theatregoers will have an opportunity of seeing one of the greatest comedies of the English language played by one of the most distinguished theatrical companies that has toured the continent in recent seasons.

Incidentally, Miss Barrymore is one actress who considers the so-called "road" equally as important as New York, and has never failed to give the public the same cast and production as played in New York. This year, Miss Barrymore is reversing the customary order, and is making an extensive tour from coast to coast before presenting "The School for Scandal" in New York.

"The School for Scandal," by Richard Brinsley Sheridan, also author of "The Rivals," commonly is regarded as one of the greatest comedies of the English language, and still proves as popular to-day whenever and wherever produced as when first done in London over 150 years ago, due to the fact largely that its story is "undated," and is just as applicable and timely to-day as it was ages ago. It is a sparkling satirical comedy dealing with a group of reputation wreckers of the upper social strata.

The situations are as natural and comic as may be found in any comedy whatever, while the principal excellence of the play will be found in those Seymour, Wm. Gershaw, Marcel Dill, on a special page of the playright's immortal work.

As Lady Teazle, Miss Barrymore again puts breath into one of the renowned characters of English drama, and her characterization of the role takes its place alongside of the many other great portraits of her illustrious stage gallery, from Shakespeare, Ibsen, Galsworthy, Pinero, Sierra, Maugham and the like.

In the company with Miss Barrymore which is touring this year under the management of Les Shubert of New York will be Walter Gilbert, McKay Morris, C. H. Croker-King, Beatrice Terry, Harry Plimmer, Ernest Rowan, Charles Romano, Anita Rothe, Anne Seymour, William Kenworthy, Marcel Dill, G. D. Andrews, Ralph Roberts, Arthur Treacher, Charles Campbell and others.

NO STATEMENT ON GRANT FOR FRIENDLY HELP

Esquimalt Council Awaits Report on Expenditures Before Giving Society Money

Until the Esquimalt Friendly Help Society, official relief organization for the municipality, furnishes the council of that district with a statement of expenditures, it will not receive the $800 grant it requested from the council yesterday evening. When such a statement is forthcoming, the council will hold a special meeting to discuss the advisability of making the grant. This was the decision reached by the municipal body following lengthy discussion at its meeting.

The action was taken on the grounds that the municipality had to secure a statement to submit to the government in order to secure a 50 per cent refund under existing direct relief legislation.

Councillor A. Heald moved the grant be made on the grounds that the society had agreed to submit their books to the auditor. Although they had made no statement, they were carrying on well enough, he said. His motion was seconded by Councillor R. A. Anderson.

WANTS MORE INFORMATION
Councillor A. Lockley moved an amendment to the effect that the council should not be paid until the council learned what the federal government would do in its new relief scheme. He suggested that the council ask the new citizens' committee of the district to furnish the required money to meet the aid society's debts.

The Esquimalt Friendly Help had been repeatedly asked for a statement and had evaded giving one, he said. In the interest of the ratepayers the council should know how the money was being spent.

The RECORD SPEAKS for ITSELF

A record in motorcycle racing or a record in cigarette popularity—each demonstrates a clean cut superiority over all others which is the result of quality.

Year after year Turret cigarettes continue to satisfy millions of Canadian smokers, and their record for public favour grows more impressive.

After all, nothing can replace good, honest tobacco; grown and ripened right out in the field under nature's own sunlight—nothing artificial about that—and the high quality is "inbred."

DR. A. J. BROWN GIVES ANOTHER LECTURE SUNDAY

Dr. A. J. Brown, M.D., C.M., F.R.C.S., who sacrificed a flourishing medical connection to champion the cause of the Bible throughout the United States, will pay a return visit to this city next Sunday. He recently conducted a successful campaign in Toronto and other eastern cities.

Dr. Brown will deliver an address entitled, "More-Proofs-of-an-Infalible Book," at the morning service at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Brown intends shortly to leave for California and from there will proceed to Honolulu. A tour of Australia with Robert Harkness, the singing evangelist, is in prospect, and possibly next year a trip to New Zealand.

ALIEN SMUGGLING RING BROKEN IN UNITED STATES

New York, Sept. 9.—Nineteen men are in custody in connection with an investigation of a ring which, federal officials say, has smuggled 8,000 foreigners into the United States for fees totaling $200,000.

The Department of Justice and the Department of Labor have been co-operating in the inquiry for six months. The scheme of the smugglers, officials said, was to charge each alien from $200 to $5,000 to bring him or her to this country and to blackmail them after arrival on threat of deportation.

Revelations were made at the federal district attorney's office yesterday on arraignment of Benjamin Friedlander, a New York attorney, and Joseph Kogan, a Canadian. They were specifically charged with conspiring to bring Solly Jacoby into this country.

There have been several arrests during the last week of employees' clearing times and clerks at the Ellis Island immigration station and at the large office in New York.
